

Photo Scavenger Hunt .... with a twist

In this photo scavenger hunt, you are not just going to take pictures of all the items on the list; you are also going to do so with an adopted tone. Tone is not about the subject of the photo, but rather how you treat the subject. It is one element that is the basis of style. If photos are all in the same tone, they can get monotonous. So, it is good to try out different tones.

Subjects:

Challenge yourself and see if you can take pictures of each of the items on the list. Try to complete the list before the end of the week.

Red truck	A shadow
Mailbox	The letter T
Fire hydrant	A street sign
Something orange	An animal
License plate	A wheel
A container	Something above you
Your reflection	A sunrise or sunset
Someone smiling	Someone waving
Something with water in it	The number 3
A sign	Something broken

Tones:

(pick one for all your photos, or pick a new one for each photo; or pick your own tone that is not on the list)

absurd	facetious	nostalgic animated	formal	philosophical awestruck	indignant	satirical candid	ironic	tragic
comic	macabre	uneasy
cynical	melancholic	urgent
empathetic	narcissistic	witty
